

Grabbing ring—the hard way

WINTER CARNIVAL

Take one part rodeo, one part ski match, a dash of jousting and mix it all with high spirits and cold feet. The result is Steamboat Springs' winter carnival which each year attracts hundreds to the Colorado resort town.

Almost every event is held on skis. There are three-legged, two-legged and even one-legged races for skiers wounded in action.

The most exciting matches combine skiing with the wild west. Galloping at full speed, a cow pony and rider pull a lance-carrying skier. Aiming at a series of five rings, he tries to spear them all in the quickest possible time. Horsedrawn ski races and horsedrawn ski jumping are other contests not for the faint hearted.

During the carnival, boat lovers play water polo in the natural hot springs which gave the town its name. Very hardy souls take off in their "Ski-Doos", a steerable soapbox on skis, racing down a bumpy course to the finish.

And every now and then music played by the Steamboat Springs High School Band resounds through the Rockies. They too, of course, are on skis.

Hurdling is harder on skis.

Trying to surmount a very real obstacle.

Skiing to beat the band.

Skidding on "Ski-Doos."

Mush on, you huskies!

Riding in style.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

FICKLE WOMAN

Dear Helen:
How can I, a boy of 16, be so lonely? That's easy, if you have a girl friend like I used to have. It all happened when I saw her and my best friend got together. Well, she finally got around to giving me back my ring. My heart felt like it was in my throat and I told her she wasn't capable of loving. She slapped my face, and ran to HIM, my ex-best friend. Now, two months later, I hear from reliable sources that she wants me back and would like for me to offer her my ring again. She has broken up with HIM. But how do I know that she isn't using me, just to get my other friend? What should I do? TO GO OR NOT TO GO?

Dear TGONTG:

Offer her nothing but a pleasant smile, and get the word around that if she really wants you back she must prove it with an apology. Meanwhile, play the field. You needn't be madly in love with a girl to date her, you know.—H.

Dear Helen:

My mother has this thing about water. She acts as if we live in a desert during a drought. Whenever any of us uses water in normal amounts for drinking, bathing or washing, she accuses us of wasting it. Don't get me wrong, she's a spotless housekeeper, and uses a good amount of water for herself. But with us, it's nag, nag, nag! Please advise, for this is driving me berserk.—DRIED RAISIN

Dear Raisin:

Each of us has her own little eccentricity. Before you "goberserk" about your mother's water saving streak, find out what causes it. Perhaps she was brought up in arid country where every drop counted. Maybe the

MARY LOGAN HOLLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sidney Holland of Richmond, Virginia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Logan, to James Lee Roy Allison, Jr., of Hope, the son of Mrs. James Lee Roy Allison of Hope and the late Mr. Allison.

Miss Holland was graduated from the Collegiate Schools of Richmond, attended Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, New Jersey, and is a senior at Queens College, Charlotte, North Carolina. She is a member of Chi Omega Sorority.

Mr. Allison attended Hope High School and was graduated from Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina, where he was a member of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. He is a second lieutenant in the United States Army.

A June wedding is planned.

sound of a running faucet drives her frantic (it bothers me too). Could be there's a water shortage in your area, or rates are sky high.

If she has a reason, understand it. If this is her only parsimony (so use the dictionary if you don't know what the word means)—smile about it. We're all entitled to ONE bit of nuttiness. Makes us human.—H.

Dear Helen:

Like the Irish Colleen, my life is presently just one mishap after another. I take a quarter step forward and three giant steps backward.

Last summer I acquired two good male friends (I'm female). Naturally, they both moved away.

I found no one else really wonderful until last week. Just as he was getting friendly, he had to have an emergency appendectomy. While he was away a friend of mine made it very clear he was her property.

Then my second-best guy, who made history class bearable, transferred out of it.

Wednesday, in English, we formed committees to do dramatic play. I changed committees so I could be in the group with my No. 3-choice-guy, and wouldn't you know: he traded places with a fella I try to avoid, but now I can't.

That's five nice boys I've lost and I've only got one, which I don't want. This is my first year in high school and if it's all going to be like that, I guess I'll just have to concentrate on studying-family living, so if you're having ing. How can I combat this sickly kid trouble or just plain trouble, turn of fate—NO FAITH IN FATE

Dear No:

I hate to sound stuffy, honey, but school is for studying—books

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The Golden Globe of the Hollywood Foreign Press Association may lack some of the prestige of the motion picture industry's own Oscar, but its method of handing out honor could be a helpful lesson to its big sister.

In an NBC special Wednesday night, more than 15 awards were handed out, with the categories pared down to an interesting minimum. They covered the members, choices of best dramatic film, best comedy of musical, best stars, supporting players, best song and a few others.

Each category was presented by a pair of popular performers. Andy Williams is not exactly Bob Hope in the quip department, but he made up for the sharp lines in the way he hustled winners on and off stage.

Best of all, the whole business was fitted neatly into one hour, including commercials.

Top awards were given to "Man For All Seasons" as the best film, and its star, Paul Scofield, as best dramatic actor. Best dramatic actress was the French performer Anouk Aimee in "A Man and a Woman."

Alan Arkin and Lynn Redgrave won in the comedy-or-musical film division for their roles, respectively in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming" — also picked as best film in its class — and "Georgy Girl."

NBC's "I Spy" was picked as the best TV program and NBC's Dean Martin was picked as the most popular male television personality. ABC's Mario Thomas, who's father is NBC's Dan Ryan, won the popularity poll in the woman's division.

Wednesday night's brief program, however, was an example of a way to use the elements without taxing the viewer's strength.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Dentists Often Need Diagnostic X Rays

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The sometime complaint that "too much X ray is used in dentistry" is usually not a valid one. Most dentists and technicians are unhappy about exposing patients to X rays because they themselves are exposed in the taking of them. But diagnostic X rays are a necessity in modern dentistry.

In a well-run dental practice, a patient's mouth health is a continuing responsibility for the dentist. Every patient gets his teeth cleaned two, three or four times a year; his mouth is examined thoroughly at least once a year.

But clinical examination is not enough. It's impossible to see under fillings, bridges and crowns, and it's impossible to see between tightly packed teeth. For this purpose dentists need X-ray eyes. Years ago dentists were handicapped because they didn't have "X-ray eyes." They determined as best they could if decay was present by color and translucency of enamel, by use of floss, by probing with sharp explorers and by subjective complaints of patients.

But this type of examination wasn't good enough. Many cavities grew to unmanageable proportions before they were discovered, and many teeth were lost as a result. Now, by one simple X-ray picture called a bitewing all upper and lower teeth on one side of the mouth can be seen between tightly packed teeth. For this purpose den-

Radiation exposure to the patient for two of these films, one on each side of the mouth, is minimal. The harm done is probably less than baking in the sun to acquire a tan, even though the sun's rays are less intense.

Tooth decay is a slow and chronic process which varies with individuals, some cavities taking years to develop, some only months. According to a patient's rate of decay, and other special problems, bitewings should be taken with some regularity, probably once a year.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Higher Heels, Short Skirts

Brown and white are big colors for spring. Heels are higher, while skirts stay above the knees. So say the Italian fashion group. Palazzo pajamas are flopping out and racing in are Tahitian type printed sarong skirts.

BUILDS CHARACTER

Man
Prays
Right

Can
He Live
Wrong?

These Countenances

Upon the shoulders of these mighty men fell responsibility when America needed guidance. Character is the trademark on each face. Of course, they were humble, profound men and their words the golden threads which hold our Democratic system of government together. True Godliness, firm statesmanship and real Americanism is written over their badges. They were firm, steady leaders of the greatest country on earth . . . America. These stalwarts provided leadership all Americans honor and claim heirship to. These three symbols of faith, vision, and forbearance made our country great . . . they are Washington, Lincoln, and Lee. Then Americans, be proud. Attend church and worship God. Thank Him for these Countenances and for every blessing we have in Free America.

DELINQUENCY PROBLEM
SANTINKETAN, India (AP) — Student indiscipline is striking at the very root of India's existence as a democratic state, warned M. C. Setalvad, former attorney general of India, in a speech to students here.
Among problems he listed is that of poorly paid and inadequately trained teaching staffs, which "naturally fail to command the necessary respect from students."

WIN AT BRIDGE

When you miss both the queen and jack of a suit, you don't really go after all the tricks if your hand and dummy don't hold as many as nine cards in it. Of course, you will accept all the tricks if things go just right but, in general, your plan of action is to avoid losing tricks to both those cards if you possibly can.

With 18 points, North is justified in jumping all the way to six no-trump without checking for aces. He knows that the partnership holds more than 32 high card points so that two aces can't be missing.

Of course, North might check to see if South holds four spades but this time there is no 4-4 spade fit and six no-trump is the correct final contract.

When South looks over dummy, he counts 11 top tricks. He is sure of a twelfth if clubs break 3-2. There also is a possible squeeze if one opponent holds four clubs and four spades.

In any event, South should start by playing clubs, so he leads out dummy's ace of clubs at trick two. Assuming that both opponents follow with low cards, South leads a club from dummy and if East plays low it is up to South to play his ten spot.

This is an example of a play that can't possibly lose a trick but may mean the difference between making the slam and going down.

The defenders have played three small clubs so that the only clubs left are the queen and jack. If West holds both of them, he must make a club trick. It doesn't hurt to let him make it right away. If West holds one of them, it also won't hurt to give it to him. South can pick up the other one from East any time. Only when East holds both is the ten spot play essential. This isn't likely, but it can happen and any successful declarer should guard against that chance.

Bobcats Bow To Badgers By 51 to 50

By RALPH ROUNTON
Hope Star Sports Writer

Pulling off the upsets of the year to this point the Arkadelphia Badgers found themselves victorious over the Hope Bobcats, 51-50, in a wild and woolly one last night at Arkadelphia.

Black Friday came to the Bobcats in the most completely unexpected way possible. The Badgers had boasted of a 1-10 record, good for 8th place in the nine team 4AA. The Bobcats limped home with a 7-5 conference mark.

Hopes for a state tournament berth by the Bobcats were also dealt a very severe blow. Only a victory over Crossett here tonight could keep the hopes of Hope from being permanently blackened.

The Bobcats played the Badgers out of the gym for four minutes. Stolen passes were the main factor as the Bobcats jumped to a 12-2 lead. From then on, however, the Badgers punished Hope around the basket. After one quarter the Bobcats led 15-10.

As Hope's shooting and overall play grew progressively worse, Arkadelphia began to creep closer. A small spree kept the Bobcats ahead and Hope still led, though barely, by 22-20 at halftime.

Disaster struck in the third quarter, first of all with Stan Parris' fourth foul occurring only 45 seconds into the period. The second phase came on a 7 point spurge by the Badgers to lead Hope 42-36 with one quarter remaining.

It was no time before the Bobcats had fallen to a 48-42 deficit with 6:12 remaining. Sheer effort finally came through for the Cats as they began to click and led 50-48 with 2:37 left. But from there on in it was no more Hope. Finally, with 1:06 left on the clock and the score tied 50-50, Arkadelphia began to stall for one shot. They finally drew a Hope foul with 5 seconds to play. The two shots were missed by Arkadelphia, but on the last shot a technical foul was called on Bobcat Danny Griffiths for pulling out of the foul lane too early. The technical shot was made, and Hope went down in defeat.

Danny Griffiths led the Hope attack with 15 points. Stan Parris had 14, Luther Shaw and Stan Reyenga 5 apiece, Larry East had 4, Dwight Galloway 3, and Mike Westbrook ended the scoring with 2. McDonald had 18 and Mathis and Ellidge 10 each for Arkadelphia.

After catching up from three 10 point deficits, the Hope "B" Boys as they would never quit, even in the darkest moments. Leading the scoring for Hope were John Henley with 15 and Monty Garner with 12. Terry Turner was next with 11, Wayne Norwell had 6, Terry Hair added 4, and Danny Middlebrooks and Danny Reyenga each had 3. Hurley and 12 for the losers.

Tonight the Senior boys and the "B" boys play host to the Crossett Eagles. Games will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Ladycats In 54-40 Win Over Gurdon

By RALPH ROUNTON
Hope Star Sports Writer

With firm and intent eyes set on the district championship and a trip to the state tournament, the Hope Ladycats easily and methodically strode to district finals by whipping Gurdon, 54-40 at Ashdown.

Merely setting out to prove that their earlier defeat of Gurdon was no joke, the Lady Cats carved out an early lead and were unstoppable at the end.

With an impressive 17-6 record now under their belts, the Lady Cats must now meet the pre-tournament pick Ashdown Panthers tonight for the right to go to the Class A State Tourney at Clinton next week.

Led by Carol Anthony's outstanding offensive performance, the Lady Cats never trailed. Gurdon kept it close for a while, anyway, as the Lady Cats only led 14-11 at the quarter.

Hope continued to roll up a bigger lead in the second period. Led by Anthony's 13 points the Lady Cats led 32-24 at halftime.

The offensive attack slowed down considerably in the third quarter, but guards Churchwell, Byers, and Kay Coleman held Gurdon down so that the Lady Cats remained on top 39-33, with one period to play.

In the final period the Hope girls coasted on in as they won their 14th game in their last 16 starts. Final score, Hope 54, Gurdon 40.

Carol Anthony popped 36 points for Hope to lead both teams. Kathryn Coleman was next up with 7 points, Gail Hartsfield had 6, and Jo McKamie pitched in 5. Waldon had 20 and DeWoody banged in 12 for Gurdon.

Tonight at Ashdown the Hope-Ashdown final is slated to start at 8:30 p.m.

Film Director to Get Married

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ROME (AP) — Film director Michelangelo Antonioni was reported today to have been secretly married to blonde Italian actress Monica Vitti, the leading lady in many of his films.

The newspaper Memento Sera said the two were wed while Antonioni was filming "Blow-up" in England last year.

Neither Miss Vitti, 31, nor Antonioni, 54, could be reached for comment. She has never before been married. He obtained a Vatican annulment of his first marriage in 1955.

Clay Debases Self

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Unpopularity in a heavyweight champion is nothing new. Jack Johnson—Lil' Arthur—caused alarm with his carousing and had every boxing promoter in the world searching for the great "white hope." Max Schmeling wasn't a model of public acceptance when he won the title from Jack Sharkey by clutching his groin and yelling, "foul!"

Jack Dempsey, revered for the last 40 years as a gentleman and champion, was the most hated fighter of his time. During World War I, he was reviled as a draft dodger and despised as a dirty fighter (Jess Willard still claimed, a lifetime later, that Dempsey's fists were loaded with plaster of paris in Toledo).

Jack wiped out the first charge as a Coast Guard officer in World War II, and gallant courage erased the other stigma.

A thoroughly beaten Dempsey went home after absorbing a tattoo on his face for 10 rounds from Gene Tunney, and his wife took a look at the lumpy mess and asked what happened. "I forgot to duck, Edna," said Jack simply.

I can't imagine Cassius Clay, or Muhammed Ali or by any other name, reacting with such humility. When it comes to unpopularity in the ring, he's something else again.

No one disputes Ali Babble's claim that he's the greatest fighter in the world, maybe even the prettiest. His domination of Ernie Terrell in the Houston Astrodome was utter and proved again there's no one around who can touch him, figuratively or otherwise. His conduct was despicable.

Even before the Marquis of Queensbury formalized such niceties as the three-minute round and no fair hitting a man when he's down (he also specified, "No shoes or boots with springs allowed"), a boxing contest was designed as a fair match between two men, using their fists to assert physical superiority. It was not meant as a forum for hysterical outbursts and espousal of extremist beliefs.

Clay's tastelessness demeans a sport that in its purest form excites the most primitive emotions in man, and his excellence as a performer no longer is an excuse for his poor grace.

He is hardly more dominant in his own time than men like Dempsey, Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano were in the eras when they ruled the heavyweight division without serious challenge.

The difference is that despite divergent personalities, they carried their titles as the best in the world with innate dignity and an intuitive ability to say the right thing. Their actions, in and out of the ring, implied a sense of obligation that being a champion meant acting like a champion. This included normal respect for men engaged in the same tough way of making a living.

Ernie Terrell was a courageous challenger against Clay. He absorbed punishment for 15 rounds, the last seven or eight with puffed eyes that limited his vision and impaired his ability to parry Clay's punches. He never acted like he wanted to quit, although it would have been a simple and excusable act.

Clay, obviously superior, set out to humiliate him by design. His disdain was audible. "What's my name?" He yelled between flurries of punches. Before the fight, Terrell had refused to call Clay by his Muslim name, Muhammad Ali. He's no different than many writers and announcers who can't reconcile himself to Clay's adopted—not legally changed, incidentally—name.

After the fight, Clay suddenly called his opponent a dog and skipped the usual platitudes about it "was a tough fight, mom," to affirm his allegiance to Elijah Muhammad, a little old man from Chicago who shares in the action.

What pains me is that some of my colleagues still adhere to the idea that Ali Babble is a misguided young man who's TORONTO — (NEA) — In the television drama Run For Your Life, the hero knows that his time is running out. So he runs as fast as he can. Bill Crothers knows that feeling.

Crothers, who runs for the East York Track Club, was once one of the world's best middle-distance men. Now, at 26, the quiet Canadian is slowing down.

"I still enjoy training," explains Crothers, who can be seen running through the snow-filled streets of Toronto at 5:30 every morning, "but after seven years of competition I just don't have much desire left. Winning just doesn't mean as much as it once did."

A druggist when he isn't running, Crothers has won more than his share both indoors and out with a silver medal performance at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics highlighting a career that includes more than 300 races.

Now, like a once-great fighter slugging it out against a never-was in a semifinal, Crothers is having trouble living up to his reputation.

"The pressure is terrific," Crothers admits. "Some people remember the way things were a few years ago and they think I can still win every time I walk out on the track. It's tough to accept."

Of late the victories haven't been coming easily for Crothers, who has finished on top of some poor fields but has been rather easily handled by first-class competition. He says he's thought about quitting. But giving up the sport that has made him internationally known is not easy. "Besides," he adds, "all my friends are runners and I really enjoy the travel."

Track has taken Crothers to 16 countries during the past seven years and he's almost as well-known in New Zealand, Austria and Israel as he is in the United States and Canada.

Being a bachelor, the prospects are that Crothers will paste a few more travel stickers on his bags before he quits.

But what about 1968? Can Crothers, an "old 26," get in shape in time to make another run for the gold medal that got away in '64?

Probably not, but Bill won't come right out and say as much. "Perhaps," he says, "I could make it on one of the relay teams. I still enjoy competition and I'd certainly enjoy going."

But 1963 is a long way off. Meanwhile, Crothers will just keep running.

THE MANY FACES of Cassius Clay reflect a number of moods—comical, pensive, defiant and solemn.

charming and amiable when you separate him from a crowd. I think he's hostile and dangerous because that surface amiability is quickly dispelled when his true feelings are vented.

His public ridicule of boxing opponents is a symptom of his own hysteria and reveals the basic immaturity of this fighter as a man. Also his emotional instability. By debasing the men he fights, he debases his own skills.

Clay has reached the point where he's more than unpopular. He's repulsive.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Michael Burke wears Oxfordian collars, dark blue suits with barely audible white pinstripes tailored dashing to continental fashion, and his graying hair sweeps in a razor cut over his ears. Mike Burke also rides the Lexington Avenue subway from his apartment on East 93rd Street to Yankee Stadium (in fact, he doesn't own a car), and talks with relish about being clobbered by a big Michigan end on the playing fields of Penn 30 years ago.

The anomaly of Mike Burke fits the new picture of the New York Yankees, for whom he now serves as president and chairman of the board. The pin-striped Yankees (blue on white), who stood for austere class, have stooped to the level of the common man and will now indulge in such plebeian practices as autograph parties in the lobby—a different player does a turn every day for 45 minutes—and the installation of contoured glass fiber seats in the bleachers.

Most of it is the doing of Burke, who is a corporate vice-president of the Columbia Broadcasting System and once jumped agents into Germany for the OSS during World War II. For breakfast, he'll rely on the continental standby of broche and coffee in the Edwardian Room of the Plaza, but in the early evening at the stadium, it'll be hot dog and mustard.

Mike personally pushed the $1,350,000 renovation project to make Yankee Stadium a nicer place to visit. And since he took over active control of the club last Sept. 19—"Mr. (William) Paley and Mr. (Frank) Stanton don't want to be a part of the baseball operation"—Burke has become a working baseball man, too.

Mike had a direct hand in the deals which shipped away established stars like Roger Maris and Clete Boyer, and he'll have a direct hand in personnel decisions of the future. Since CBS, in July of 1964, made its decision to buy the Yankees, Burke, as the purchase liaison man and later as a member

PITCHING—Yankees in deep trouble when they invite such 40-year-old minor league pitchers as Chi Chi Olivo to spring training. A Joe Page he isn't. Or a Johnny Sain. Jim Bouton the key. Had best ERA among starters in 1966 after year and a half of arm problems. His 3-8 record very misleading. Mel Stottlemyre (12-20) slipped last year; Al Downing (10-11) was usual inconsistent self. Fred Talbot (11-11) not much better. Lefty Fritz Peterson (12-11) showed promise. Steve Hamilton, Docley Womack, Hal Reniff did some good relief work. Whitey Ford gets last chance in camp to see if arm has healed. Stan Bahnsen, Rich Beck, Bill Henry rookies with a chance. RATING—B—men in the University field house because gamblers were becoming a nuisance to players and coaches. "There's going to be trouble again," Red Manning, the Duquesne coach, said. "I can't believe how close the gamblers get to the players. They're almost sitting on the bench. Somebody better do something about it."

At a recent game between Pitt and Virginia Tech, one of Red's freshman players was sitting in the front row with a well-known Pittsburgh bookmaker.

When asked about it, the freshman confessed ignorance of the bookmaker's background. "He sure knows his basketball," the freshman said.

This same bookmaker sponsors teams in post-season tournaments around the Pittsburgh area. The bookmaker also has been spotted sitting on the Schenley High School bench. Schenley won the Pennsylvania High School championship last season.

"We're taking steps to make sure nothing bad happens," Carver said when asked about the plainclothesmen. "But you can't stop a guy from gambling."

Frank Carver is extremely sensitive about the subject of basketball and gambling. In college basketball, however, one becomes conditioned to ask.

of the board, has been a regular at Yankee Stadium. This year he'll expand his viewing and even take in at least one road stand at each of the other cities in the league.

Burke now knows each man on the club personally and this past winter went to the Yankee instructional camp in Florida to check out the young kids in the organization. "I wanted to see," he says, "if there was a defeatist attitude because of our sixth and 10th place finishes the last two years. There's none at all. They're really fired up."

And when spring practice comes shortly, Burke has a sweat shirt packed away in his bag, lettered "Chipmunks" across the chest, which he might even get a chance to use.

"My first exposure to the Yankees," recalls Mike, "was at age 12. I was staying out at Governor's Island with a friend. We took a ferry and then a subway up to the stadium, bought a bag of peanuts and no sooner got settled in our seats than Babe Ruth came up for the first time and knocked one out of the park. It was just like the story book said it was. And that memory was burned into my soul."

Mike's also a practical man, though. "We have a problem, obviously," he continues, "having finished 10th, and it's multiplied by two because we are the Yankees. We have to revitalize every facet of our operation. But the central fact of life is the ball club that you put on the field."

"Ralph Houk (manager), Lee McPhail (general manager) and I sat down several months ago and decided where the Yankees are heading. We had two ways to go—stick with all the established stars and hope things get better, or embark on a youth program."

It's obvious the Yankees have decided on youth. Except for Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford and Elston Howard—and Ford's not even on the official spring roster—the Yankee training camp in Fort Lauderdale will be populated by bustling kids. Burke even got rid of the oldest member of the broadcasting team, Red Barber.

"That," he smiles blushing, "was our first public relations debacle. The press has been very good to us."

Of course, the Yankees, like Avis, have also been trying harder.

Times Haven't Changed

Centuries have passed since the practice of medicine threw off ancient encumbrances of witchcraft, superstition, and magic.

In Babilonia (B. C.) there were no physicians, as such, but each resident had progressed to the stage where he volunteered diagnosis and cure for various ailments. It was common practice to place a sick person on a bed in the street so everybody passing by could offer advice and a favorite remedy.

These facts were brought out at the annual convention of the American Medical Association, recently concluded. Despite the progress of medical science, custom hasn't changed in one respect. Free advice still is very much in vogue. If you don't believe it, just catch a cold and tell your friends about it. — Nashville (Tenn.) Banner

But the way he puts it is this: If the principles of American democracy are to survive the age of cybernation "we will probably have to fashion some new political practices and modernize some existing institutions."

Some of us have not yet gotten accustomed to being humans in the Atomic Age. Now we are hurried into "the age of cybernation" before many of us even know that means the age of "mechanical - electrical communications systems, such as computing machines." United Fund
Pledges Now
$13,000

Pledges and cash totaling approximately $13,000 have been brought into the United Fund since the campaign started late in October. Each week some new money is turned in bringing the total to a new high figure. According to fund drive co-chairman, Roy Anderson and Dorsey Stringfellow, several local businesses have not contributed as of this date. The officers and directors of the United Fund have expressed hope that at least part of these businesses will come through with their contribution or pledge in order that the fund may know just how much money and pledges to depend on for the year. At the present time the drive is slightly over 50 percent of its total goal.

According to Ray Lawrence, fund president, a division of funds totaling $7,000.00 was recently made to all agencies participating in the fund. This was made from monies collected during the drive and up to around February 1st. The following is a list of participants in the fund and the amount they received from the recent disbursement:

Salvation Army — $560.00, Girl Scouts — $1124.20, Boy Scouts — $1288.00, American Red Cross — $980.00, Arkansas Association for Mental Health, Inc. — $112.00, United Cerebral Palsy Association of Arkansas — $140.00, The Arthritis Foundation of Arkansas — $473.20, United Service Organizations, Inc. — $35.00, Underprivileged Children — $420.00 (This fund handled locally by the Junior Auxiliary), Local Girl Scout Fund — $56.00, National Travelers Aid Association — $14.00, American Social Health Association — $7.00, Arkansas Association for Retarded Children, Inc. — $280.00.

The following funds are collected and held for local use: Muscular Dystrophy — $84.00, Multiple Sclerosis — $56.00, Polio — $140.00, Heart — $70.00, Cancer — $420.00, Salaries and Office Expense — $210.00, Reserve Fund — $530.60.

At the end of each year, money not expended from those local agencies is re-divided among the participating agencies in order that the local fund not be built up too high. There will be at least two more divisions of funds during the year as money comes in.

Local officers for the United Fund are as follows:

Election
Bill Ruled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell ruled Thursday that a bill was unconstitutional that would allow special elections in counties with 100,000 or more population where a county office is not filled by the person elected.

Purcell said that under Amendment 14 the 100,000 population feature is in conflict with the constitutional prohibition. This was Rep. Charles Matthews' second effort to push such a bill through the legislature. His first bill was defeated in the Senate.

Matthews, of North Little Rock, introduced another bill on the same topic after hearing the ruling.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House passed and sent to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller today a bill adding seven days to the Oaklawn racing season for the benefit of Arkansas horse breeders.

If signed into law, it would take effect next year.

The bill provides that the "breakage" — the odd cents — during the extra seven days go to an Arkansas Racing Commission Purse and Awards Fund to be used in augmenting purses, stakes or prizes and to pay breeders awards in races exclusively for Arkansas-bred horses.

It was estimated that the breakage would amount to $75,000. The fund also would get an extra $25,000 from track revenues. It was estimated that the state's share of revenues would be $250,000.

Rep. Thomas Sparks of Fordyce opposed the bill because it would take away money that should go to the state, Rep. Charles Stuart of Fayetteville, however, said the bill would give the thoroughbred horse industry in Arkansas a shot in the arm.

Rep. Jack S. Oakes of Augusta said Arkansas could develop its thoroughbred industry to compare with that of Ky., Md., or Va. If the state's breeders were given help.

They and other members of the club will be on hand to serve tasty desserts before the fashions are shown and to direct bridge and other card games later in the afternoon.

As most people know from past experience, this afternoon with the Daffodil Garden Club gives the women of Hope a chance to do what they like best while raising money for a worthwhile project. The club has helped landscape the library, furnished a room at Memorial Hospital, decorated the Youth Center, planted pine trees at Memory Gardens Cemetery, landscaped the Health Center, bought a rocking chair for Memorial Hospital for use by mothers of sick children, paid a teacher of exceptional children for a year at Paisley School, sponsors the Green Thumb Junior Garden Club at Paisley under chairman Mrs. Bruce Duke, and each year decorates the Memorial Hospital and Nursing Home at Christmas.

Organized in 1949 by Mrs. Bin McRae, Mrs. Lex Helms, Jr., and the late Mrs. Jack Cleary, the Daffodil Garden Club was affiliated with the city, state, and national councils that same year. It has played an important part in the community activities of Hope ever since.

Ministers
Protest
TV Program

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Ten Mena ministers have sent a resolution to the Federal Communications Commission complaining about a program carried by the state's educational television station at Conway.

The program was a play entitled "An Enemy of the People" by Henrik Ibsen, which was aired Feb. 3.

The resolution said the play contained "obscene, indecent and profane" language.

The Rev. Tom S. Moore, pastor of the First Christian Church, said he saw the play and that it included "cursing and taking the Lord's name in vain." He said some four-letter words were used.

Fred H. Schmutz, program director for the station, said that as he recalled there were only four expletives (dammit and hell) during the section he saw.

"It is a fine play and we have had many good comments on it," Schmutz said.

The station was accused of censorship last December for cancelling a play because of its language.

Confusion Hits Soviet Factory Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Efforts to reform the Soviet economy by giving local factory bosses more authority are being choked by bureaucratic confusion, the Communist party newspaper Pravda reports.

In a front-page editorial Thursday, Pravda cited failure of supply organizations to provide goods, failure of plants to pay for goods promptly, refusal of central planners to give up controls assigned to plant bosses, revision of production plans by the government without consulting factories and confusion in price changes.

Troops Miss
Ambush; Kill
70 Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Vietnam AP — Australian troops bypassed an enemy ambush and killed 70 Viet Cong in a six-hour battle Friday, spokesman for the 1st Australian Task Force announced today.

It was the fourth straight day allied units — South Vietnamese, Koreans, Americans and Australians — have clashed with guerrillas or North Vietnamese regulars. They have claimed an over-all enemy death toll exceeding 1,000.

This week's battles raged from the Mekong Delta to northern Quang Ngai Province and although the action tapered off today, allied troops continued hunting for their fleeing adversaries.

There was no pattern to the week's outbreak of major fighting, the heaviest so far this year. Several battles were initiated by Communists trying to overrun allied positions or blocking posts — the others units found the enemy and hemmed them in.

The Australians swept through the coastal swamps 47 miles southeast of Saigon today and said they had killed 70 men of the Viet Cong's veteran D445 Mobile Battalion.

The action capped these major fights that started Tuesday: South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen killed 331 guerrillas in two days of fighting in the delta southwest of Can Tho. Korean marines killed 243 North Vietnamese regulars in a three-hour battle Wednesday near Quang Ngai City on the central coast.

A blocking force of South Vietnamese armored personnel carriers and rangers killed 161 fleeing Communists the next day.

Soldiers of the 2nd Brigade, U.S. 4th Infantry Division, killed at least 128 North Vietnamese Wednesday and Thursday when the enemy attacked the division's bases near the Cambodian border and 230 miles north west of Saigon.

U.S. Marines made an amphibious assault on the central coast in Operation Deckhouse Six Thursday foot killed 62 guerrillas.

In addition to the enemy dead in these contacts, several hundred others were killed in scores of patrol actions throughout the republic.

Group to Hear
Milk Problems

LITTLE ROCK AP — A public hearing will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday by the Arkansas Senate Federal Relations Committee on bills to investigate problems in the milk industry.

Both bills, by Sens. Virgil Fletcher of Benton and James Ed Light from complaints last summer about high milk prices in the state.

Reaction to Penal Report
Very Slight

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There was little reaction in the Arkansas Senate Thursday to a report by the legislature's Joint Penitentiary Investigating Committee.

Although the report ignored the specific situation at the state penitentiaries and offered only suggestions that have been discussed before, most members of the Senate seemed to feel that it was entirely adequate.

There were several remarks to the effect that a prison wasn't supposed to be a "country club," and the Senate seemed more upset about out-of-state publicity on the penitentiary system than it was about earlier reports of brutality, promiscuity and inhumane conditions at the prisons.

Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, chairman of the investigating committee, said the prison system in Arkansas isn't perfect, but "it is as perfect as we can humanly make it."

He was referring specifically to the trusty system. Nelson said he abhorred cruelty, but said he believed prisoners should not be "so conducive to prisoners that they want to stay there or come back there."

"They're not there because they sang too loud in Sunday school," Nelson said.

Nelson said he didn't condone wrongdoing in the prison or anywhere else, but "we should not listen to the criminal element in our prison on how it ought to be operated."

In answer to a question, Nelson said he would be available for inquiries about the investigation after the Senate had time to study the report.

Senate Okays
Fraudulent
Ad Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House passed a Senate bill today making fraudulent or misleading advertising a misdemeanor subject to a fine of from $100 to $1,000 or 60 days in jail, or both.

Rep. Cal Ledbetter Jr. of Little Rock, who handled the bill by Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock, said the measure "puts a little muscle" behind the operations of the Better Business Bureau.

Ledbetter said no state law at present specifically prohibits misleading advertising.

The bill prohibits false advertising specifically in food prices. It also said advertisements must state that a seller is in the business and not a private party.

The vote was 82-3.

Recalls His

HOUSTON, Tex. AP — He recalls every detail of that day nearly five years ago when he sailed three times around an awed world and returned a hero — but this year the anniversary falls under the shadow of tragedy.

John H. Glenn Jr. is on the sidelines now, watching from earth while others pave the way to the moon and share the dangers.

But the flames that swept the Apollo 1 spaceship Jan. 27, killing three astronauts burned their way into John Glenn's memory too.

"What can you say when you've lost some of your best friends," Glenn asked.

Peace Talks
Possible If Bombs Stop

LONDON (AP) — A North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry spokesman in Hanoi has confirmed that talks can commence if the Americans stop the bombing of North Vietnam, the Communist Morning Star reported today.

In an undated dispatch, Freda Cook, its correspondent in Hanoi, quoted the spokesman as saying:

"This is not a new line but a new approach to the question of talks. The United States has protested often enough that it wants to talk as soon as there is the slightest indication that Hanoi is willing."

"Very well, let the bombing of the north stop definitely and talks could commence, without, however, any suggestion that Hanoi will budge one iota from the four-point stand which is the only basis for a correct settlement."

North Vietnam's four points include withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and dismantling of U.S. bases, adherence to the Geneva agreements on Vietnam, settlement of South Vietnam's internal problems without outside interference and eventual peaceful unification.

Freda Cook said the spokesman agreed it was not a matter of the order of events rather than a change in policy. The other conditions embodied in the four-point stand could follow the commencement of talks instead of being an essential prelude.

"Hanoi feels able to make this approach because, said the Foreign Office spokesman, it is clear now that the U.S. is now faced with an unalterable situation," the dispatch said.

"In the south the fierce escalation has brought it no permanent advantage, while its 'pacification' program could be called farcical, were it not so cruel. The longer the war goes on, the more humiliated and hated the Pentagon will be."

Library Bldg.
to Come From Savings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday he plans to save enough money through economies to give priority treatment in 1968 to a proposed $3 million state library-museum building. The governor said there is no room in fiscal 1968 revenues for the project, but that it would be taken up in a special legislative session he plans after Jan. 1, 1968.

Assessment of Reynolds
Show Drop

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Saline County tax assessor H. W. Greene said Thursday tax records show assessments for the Reynolds Metals plant at Bauxite have been reduced by $839,290.

Greene said records show no authorization for such a reduction and the minutes of the County Equalization Board don't authorize any assessment change.

Herman Finkbeiner of Benton, a member of the Equalization Board, said Thursday night the board lowered the assessment from $3,127,890 to $2,288,600 in 1965 after Reynolds filed suit claiming the assessment of its property was too high.

Finkbeiner said a similar suit had been filed earlier and the Board used this suit as a precedent. Finkbeiner said the state Supreme Court ruled against the county in the earlier suit.

Greene said in a prepared statement: "I think this reduction was illegal and without regard for what the plant is really worth." He said the reduction would mean a revenue loss of about $200,000 to the Bauxite School District.
